DOW ROAD AND ROUTE 3-A TIF DISTRICT PROJECT PLANNED

The Granite State Industrial Center of Dow Road can be expanded if the intersection with Route 3-A is modified. That is a proposal made to the Business Corridor TIF Board by Amber Bow Associates for Phase 2 of the Center. Amber Bow told the Board on October 2 its site engineer, Tim Bernier, had designed a simple plan which adds a turning lane from Dow Road going south onto Route 3-A, and a second turning lane proceeding from Route 3-A in a southerly direction turning onto Dow Road.

The proposed intersection upgrade will be a significant traffic flow and safety improvement. Approximately 2,000 SF of right-of-way will be needed from the northwest and southwest property owners to complete the upgrade. The property owners have indicated their willingness.

Also, Dow Road, beneath Interstate 93 overpass needs to be re-feathered and Liberty Utilities is requiring an upgrade of the gas line.

When all Phases of the GSIC Project are completed the estimated per annum real estate taxes should be in excess of $200,000 per year.

COLBY LAND DONATION TO BOW OPEN SPACES

On September 23, 2024, Bow Open Spaces completed the donation of a property from Kathy Houghton.

Located on Woodhill-Hooksett Road, this property will be known as Colby Houghton Family Memorial Forest.

This is the second property conserved by Bow Open Spaces this year, with the donation ensuring the permanent protection of land that the Houghton family has farmed and enjoyed for decades.

STONE SLED ANTIQUE SLED BOASTS SHOU SUGI BAN REBUILD

David Morrison, Joe Serratore, and Gary Cole, have successfully rebuilt from scratch the antique stone sled that graces the entryway to the Stone Sled Condominium neighborhood.

HOPKINTON-CONTOOCOOK NEWS ON PAGES 17-18 Two Villages art Society Celebrates its fifth year!

Five years ago, a group of Hopkinton residents got together and put up an art exhibit in a temporarily empty town building. Today, the Bates Building on the main street of Contoocook is the home of a thriving art gallery which has displayed the work of more than 300 artists and become the go-to spot for local art lovers. On October 19, the Two Villages Art Society is celebrating its fifth birthday, along with the opening of its 47th exhibit.

GIRLS' SOCCER GAME LEADS TO ARMBAND DEBATE AND A LAWSUIT OVER EXCLUSION OF PARENTS

On Tuesday, September 17, 2024, despite a new state law saying that athletes in grades 5 through 12 have to play on the team that matches their gender at birth, two transgender girls from Plymouth and Pembroke were playing girls' soccer after Judge Landya McCafferty put a temporary hold as the law might violate Title IX of the Civil Rights Act. Outraged parents decided to go to the Bow game to peacefully protest by wearing pink armbands with two XXs on them to symbolize the female chromosome structure.

Only the metal rails were used from the original sled. The wood was treated using the ancient Japanese method called Shou Sugi Ban, which involves charring the wood, then brushing with a wire brush before applying a Tung Oil finish. The technique makes the wood water, insect, and rot resistant and should last for decades. On September 5, the sled was assembled and installed with real stone from a quarry! Subsequently, the pumpkin fairy, June Connor, arranged pumpkins all around to help celebrate this newly refinished beauty!

Fellers, and others believe that biological males should not play sports on women's teams. The New Hampshire legislature and Governor Sununu agree and just recently enacted a law to that effect.

Several parents showed up to watch the soccer game between Bow and Plymouth wearing pink armbands as symbols of support for girls-only sports. This upset some parents of a different view who complained about the armbands. Sports officials stopped the game, demanded the pink armbands be removed, and issued police enforced "no trespassing" orders against at least two parents.

Anthony Foote of Bow said:

"My daughter's playing in the homecoming game this weekend, and I'm banned until the 23rd. I can't watch her play in homecoming – which is ridiculous."

Bow resident and father, Kyle Fellers said a Bow police officer insisted that Fellers immediately leave all school property. Because Fellers still had to pick up his children and sister – who had attended the game – he refused to leave without them. ARTICLE CONTINUES | Page 5

EDITORIALS

TRUMP'S OWN WORDS ARE THE REASON I CAN'T SUPPORT HIM

As the oldest candidate for president in history, at age 78, either his family history of dementia is kicking in or Trump is willfully uninformed. Latest samples:

UKRAINE: "What deal can we make? It's demolished. The people are dead." Really? Tens of millions of Ukrainians are alive and their army has even seized part of Russia. Trump is ready to turn his back on their brave fight.

OBAMACARE: For years Trump has said he will replace Obamacare, the Affordable Care Act. In the 8 years since 2016 what has he come up with? In the September 10 debate he said he only has "concepts of a plan." Wow!

DEBATE: Speaking of the debate, Trump claims he won "every poll, in one case 92-8." Really? Every poll I read said Vice President Harris won. The 92% win must have been his staff.

THE GREAT DEPORTATION: Trump claims he will deport every one of the 11,000,000 illegal immigrants. But when he had a chance as President he deported only 2 million people according to the US Department of Homeland Security. Who deported more? From fiscal year 2009 to 2012 Barack Obama deported 3,200,000 people.

THE CHINESE TRUMP BIBLE: In March Donald Trump announced the sale of the Trump Bible for $59.99.

What he didn't tell his faithful is that the Bibles were printed in Hangzhou, China for three dollars each. "They are stealing our jobs" Trump has told his rally crowd. So why not made in America for the "God bless the USA" bibles? Profit over Principle should be Trump's new motto.

And granddaddy of them all, relying on an erroneous Facebook post from some woman in Ohio, he said immigrants in the town of Springfield "are eating the dogs. They are eating the cats."

If that reflects his staff at work we are in trouble.

So the bottom line is you should vote for Republicans below the circle for president if you want to control spending and taxes. Bow has four House candidates who will keep taxes and spending down, so those Republicans deserve support: Matthew Poulin, John Martin, Dave Germain, and Darleen Gildersleeve. (Pictured on right, standing left to right, respectively.)

If you can't vote for Kamala Harris, you can still vote Republican for President by writing in two words: Liz Cheney.

BANNED IN BOW

On Tuesday, September 17, 2024, the Bow school system clearly violated the First Amendment when it told a resident he could not come on school property "until further notice." His offense? Wearing a pink armband with two XXs on it.

It is ridiculous, but schools apparently need to be reminded about the First Amendment. Obviously decades without teaching civics has taken a toll on our understanding of First Amendment peaceful dissent.

Back in 1995 at the Londonderry annual school meeting, Patrick Sheridan attended wearing a sweatshirt that said, "It Shouldn't Hurt to be a Londonderry Homeowner." Of course, the content of the message offended the pro-tax school moderator, so Mr. Sheridan was not allowed to attend if he wore the shirt. $22,000 in taxpayer money was paid to Mr. Sheridan after he filed suit in federal court.

Federal Magistrate Judge James Muirhead said:

"The school district erred by calling Mr. Sheridan's shirt a "sign" and by banning it because it might have offended others seated near Mr. Sheridan. Other voters with writing on their clothing were not excluded."

In the Vietnam War era, student John Tinker wore a black armband at his high school in Iowa to silently protest the controversial war. The school suspended him, but his federal lawsuit made it to the United States Supreme Court. In its 1969 opinion, the court said:

"The First Amendment right of free speech includes not only the affirmative right to speak, but also the right to be free from retaliation by a public official for the exercise of that right."

A proud member of the New Hampshire Press Association The Supreme Court reminded us all in the 2011 case of Snyder v. Phelps that "in public debate we must tolerate insulting, and even outrageous speech." That is why even Title X protecting women's sports cannot supersede the First Amendment to the Constitution.

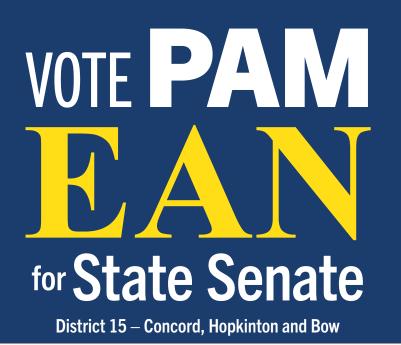

In a violation of a parent's right to attend a public event like a soccer game, Superintendent Marcy Kelley told Bow parent Kyle Fellers:

"I am writing to inform you that you are hereby prohibited from entering the buildings, grounds, and property of the Bow School District, including but not limited to all school administrative office buildings, parking lots, and athletic fields, until further notice. You are also prohibited from attending any Bow School District athletic or extra-curricular event, on or off school grounds."

Bow School District owes the parents an apology as soon as humanly possible for retaliating against a message that it thinks is not politically correct.

Being offended by a MAGA hat or a rainbow tee-shirt is part of life at a game, and those offended have to suck it up. Once governments start censoring a message, they are way over the line.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

A MAN WITH A MODERATOR BADGE IS ACTUALLY BAIASED

Community forums are essential for fostering open dialogue in today's polarized climate. However, the Bow "Community" Facebook page has become a disturbing example of censorship masquerading as moderation. Specifically, moderator Dave Farr's extreme bias undermines the very essence of a community forum.

Moderation should promote diverse perspectives and ensure every voice can be heard, yet Farr's actions suggest a different agenda. His unilateral decisions to delete content that challenges his views or makes him uncomfortable are not just a failure of moderation; they're an affront to the principles of free speech enshrined in our First Amendment rights.

By labeling those who raise legitimate concerns about fluid gender identities or objections to graphic content in school libraries as "bigots" or "book banners," Farr stifles healthy debate and alienates a significant portion of our community. Such tactics are reminiscent of a monarchy rather than a democracy, where dissenting voices are silenced and ridiculed.

True community forums should embrace a spectrum of opinions, allowing all members to engage respectfully. Regardless of their political leanings, no individual should wield the power to silence others. We must demand accountability from Facebook moderators who, like Farr, can only fulfill their role with bias.

Our community deserves a forum that values discourse, encourages diverse opinions, and upholds the ideals of free speech for all. It's time to re-evaluate who we trust to moderate our conversations. Dave Farr has lost the community's trust and must be removed as a moderator of this Facebook page immediately. – Christopher Lins, Bow

My primary interest is maintaining low taxes.

I will not and have never supported a sales or income tax. I was the author of a petition warrant at town meeting that resulted in a $4,000 tax credit for 100% Disabled Veterans. My legislative agenda is simple. I will sponsor legislation to give seniors State Property Tax credit under a simple formula:

Age 65 - 25% credit: Age 70 – 50% credit Age 75 - 75% credit: Age 80 – 100% credit

This would be with the proviso that cities and towns could grant the same credits.

I will also introduce legislation authorizing the basic veterans tax credit to $1,000 and the $4,000 disabled veteran credit to $6,000. Included would be the proviso that the credit could be offered to any disabled veteran at the same percentage as their VA rating.

OCTOBER CYBERSECURITY AWARENESS MONTH: TOP 7 WAYS TO AVOID FRAUD

Computer-related crimes affecting consumers and businesses are frequently in the news. Federally insured financial institutions are required to have vigorous information security programs, but their customers also need to know how to protect and maintain their own computer systems from fraud.

Important tips to consider, developed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC):

1. Protect Your Computer. Install software that protects against malware, use a firewall, and make sure the setting allows for automatic updates.

2. Use Strong Log-Ins. Use passwords that are difficult to guess and keep them secret. Use combinations of letters-upper and lower case, numbers and symbols. Change them regularly and make sure to use different ones for each account.

3. Understand Internet Safety. Websites that start with "https://" scramble your information during transmission and are more secure. Be sure to log out of financial transactions when you are finished.

4. Be Suspicious of Unsolicited Emails. It's easy for cyber criminals to duplicate a company's logo and create a phishing email from it. Don't click on or download any attachments because it could install malware. Ignore these requests!

5. Be Careful Where You Connect to the Internet. Avoid connecting to the internet in a public place when banking or exchanging personal information. Free Wi-Fi networks are not always secure.

6. Be Careful on Social Media. Criminals are more likely to figure out your passwords from personal information, like birthdates, etc. Don't share your page access with anyone you don't know or trust.

7. Take Precautions with Tablets and Smartphones. Make sure your apps are updated, never leave your device unattended and make sure the "auto-lock" feature is on.

Following the incident, Fellers and Foote were issued "no trespass orders" by Bow school officials banning them from school grounds and events. Foote was banned until September 23, while Fellers was banned for the entire fall term.

The orders prevent them from attending their children's games and school events, as well as activities like picking up their children from after-school practice.

One neutral press observer was Mike Graham of the New Hampshire Journal who viewed videos of the parents peacefully standing in the viewing section. He saw:

"No disruptive actions such as shouting, chanting, marching, sign-waving, etc. Parents and fans are sitting in chairs or standing along the sidelines. The only activity was some parents complaining about the pink armbands. Those complaining parents, and not the girls' sports supported, caused whatever disruption that occurred."

ON TO COURT

The next event in the lifecycle of protests is often a trip to a courthouse and that occurred here when on September 30, when four protestors filed suit in the same federal courthouse that has the transgender ban before it. The suit says that head referee Steve Rossetti stopped play for 15 minutes because the players heard arguing "about the First Amendment thing." In very unportsmanlike play, Rossetti threatened to make Bow forfeit and called Mr. Fellers "a fing asshole."

The suit claims that a peaceful protest in a public place is protected activity under the First Amendment which protects messages we might disagree with.

SCHOOL BOARD SHOWDOWN

Another front in the pink XX war was played out at the Bow School Board meeting on October 2.

Steve Herbert, a Bow resident, said what concerns him most is school officials violating First Amendment rights of the protesters.

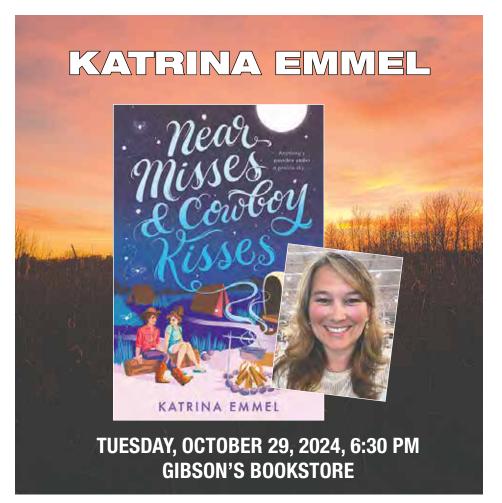

"I'm disappointed in every one of you," Herbert said. "There was nothing wrong. There was no voices, there were no mean words. It wasn't directed at anybody. And when elections come up, I'd like you all to know and put you on notice that I don't think you deserve to be up there. I think that you are putting your personal views in front of everyone here."

On the other side of the debate was Alex Zerba who is a parent of a girl on the Bow High girls soccer team.

"I am so upset with how this has been handled by many people I see in this room – I don't even know who you are," Zerba said.

State Representative J.R. Hoell (R-Dunbarton) presented the School Board with a petition, with 1,250 signatures, demanding that Superintendent Kelley rescind the no trespassing order and issue a public apology to the parents, or the Board should have her "removed from her position."

"I know that's strongly worded, but it is that important, "Hoell said. "At some point, some girl potentially is going to get hurt on a soccer field. If we want co-ed sports, have co-ed sports. That's fine, everybody can participate, but when we start segregating sports by sex, we need to then go ahead and segregate it by sex." CHUCK DOUGLAS

FALL FORWARD AND START FRESH

by Jim Olson

It's that time of year again! The leaves are changing color, the air is getting cooler, and pumpkin spice everything is back in stores. As we say goodbye to summer and hello to fall, it's also a perfect time to hit the reset button on our health and fitness goals. Whether you didn't reach your summertime fitness goals or you're just looking for a fresh start, now is the time to get moving forward—not backward. Here's why starting over (aka falling forward) can be good for your health!

SIMPLY PUT, FALLING FORWARD MEANS MAKING PROGRESS IN SPITE OF SETBACKS.

It's about moving forward, even when we fall back. Let's say you've been working hard to eat healthily and exercise regularly, but you have a slip-up and eat a bag of chips or skip a workout. Instead of beating yourself up or giving up altogether, you dust yourself off and get back on track. You don't dwell on the setback; you use it as motivation to keep going.

FALLING FORWARD IS ALL ABOUT MINDSET. It's about seeing setbacks as temporary roadblocks instead of permanent failures. It's about knowing that we can always pick ourselves up and start again. Starting over can be tough. It requires facing up to the fact that we didn't do as well as we wanted to and admitting that we need to try again. But just because it's tough doesn't mean it isn't worth it. In fact, starting over can be one of the best things you do for your health—physical and mental.

FALLING FORWARD GIVES YOU A CLEAN SLATE. When you start over, you get a clean slate. You can forget about all the times you didn't work out or ate unhealthy foods. No more beating yourself up for not reaching your goals—it's time to start fresh! This clean slate will help give you the motivation you need to stick with your new health and fitness goals. And who knows? Maybe this time you'll finally reach your goals! (We think you can.)

Want to get a jumpstart in losing those first 10lbs or a metabolism boost towards dropping those last 10lbs?

Are you ready to find more energy by burning those stubborn fat cells that are weighing you down?

Jim Olson

STARTING OVER CAN HELP BOOST YOUR

CONFIDENCE. Every time we set a goal and achieve it, our confidence grows a little bit more. So even if you didn't reach your fitness goals last season, think about all of the other times in your life when you have set a goal and achieved it. Remember how good it felt? That's how good it will feel when you finally reach your health and fitness goals—and starting over is one step closer to making that happen.

ONWARD AND UPWARD! Fall may be a time for reflection, but it's also a time for moving forward—falling forward. As we move into the new season, let's remember that it's never too late to start fresh. And if we do fall back, we can always get up and try again. If you find yourself veering off course, don't beat yourself up; simply dust yourself off and start again. Progress is never linear; there will always be bumps in the road. The important thing is to keep moving forward toward your goals. And if you need some help getting started or staying on track, we're here for you! Schedule a free consultation today and let's chat about how we can help you reach your health and fitness goals.

Remember to set back Sunday November 3!

Do this year's election cycle blues drag you down? Are you tired of those political commercials that jump out at you from the TV screen? Do you find offensive the countless signs, posters and stickers that engulf the nation every fourth year? Do the endless streams of nasty, unsolicited rhetoric on Facebook make you angry? Well, cheer up: I have come up with a new game to help relieve election-year malaise. It is called "zealot baiting." It is great fun. The rules are really very simple. First you must find a political zealot.

A Democratic zealot is a person who believes that all Republicans hate poor people and women. A Democratic zealot believes that all Republicans are rich, stuffy and boring; and that they are Bible-toting, intolerant, gun wielding fanatics. Democratic zealots believe that all Republicans are racists. Democratic zealots believe that all Republicans are deplorable. Democratic zealots don't need to watch the debates or the conventions because they will vote for the entire Democratic contingent – even if the Ayatollah himself were heading it.

A Republican zealot is equally easy to spot. He or she believes that all Democrats are directly connected to the Communist party. A Republican zealot believes that all Democrats have no idea what the real world is all about. That they drive around in their electric cars on their way to yet another protest march when they should be out working hard like their Republican counterparts. They believe that Democrats truly care for the underprivileged as long as somebody else pays the bill. And that they probably have a member of their family or a close friend who is on some form of entitlement program. Republican zealots believe that all Democrats are racists. Republican Zealots don't need to watch the conventions or the debates. They will vote for the entire Republican contingent – even if Vladimir Putin himself were heading it.

You can't always spot a zealot simply by sight. A standard question usually is enough to determine if you have a likely candidate.

"Whom do you hope to support in the up coming election?"

If the person says something like...."I'm not quite sure yet. I think I'll wait until I am reasonably certain as to where each candidate stands on the issues and then decide"....you have found an intelligent voter. They are no fun at all. Excuse yourself quickly and continue your search elsewhere. But if the person gets red in the face, begins to blink quickly and starts to sweat, you have found a live one. And here is where the fun begins. Determine which party the zealot supports. This is very easily done. This person will verbally subject you to all the wonders of his or her party and all the evils of the opposing party. It is your task to keep the zealot raving. High scores are awarded to those who can keep the zealot excited for the longest time and to those who can get the zealot to change the greatest range of color.

Everyone, of course, has his own technique. Personally, I can keep a conversation going with a well-placed question or statement. If I am talking to a Republican zealot I usually start them off with something like... "Aren't Rachel Maddow and Chuck Schumer just so lovable and kind?" I follow that with... "Wow! Kamala Harris! Isn't it great to have such intelligence and experience at the top of the ticket?" And if I really want to shake things up I only need three letters... "AOC."

If I am talking to a Democratic zealot I might start with... "Can't wait until we get back to finishing that wall. I can follow with... "Whom do you like better as secretary of state: Rudy Guiliani or Sean Hannity?" And if I am in a particularly nasty mood I have only to utter two words to assure myself victory... "Donald Trump."

So if you were feeling rather discouraged by this upcoming campaign, if all the mudslinging and name calling depresses you, try my version of "zealot baiting." It is fun, stimulating, and best of all we get to do it again every four years. By the way, who do you like in 2024?

LIQUID BIOPSY

When I was a young surgeon, the only way to find out what kind of presumed cancer a patient had was to secure some actual tissue to give to the pathologist. That was usually done by excising some of the tumor or getting a small core of tissue using a needle placed into the unknown growth. The bigger the biopsy sample the more likely the pathologist would be able to make a diagnosis.

It was as early as the 1860' s that tumor cells were known to be present in a patient's blood. Today researchers are identifying the genetic changes in these cells, and this mutational profiling of circulating tumor cells can give clues as to the outcome of therapeutic responses. Tumor cells can also be found in other body fluids such as saliva and urine.

For a patient who is being treated for cancer, the ability to have real time information of a response to a drug is very useful, especially if that information can be obtained from a sample of blood. Such a patient may not need repeated CAT or MRI scans; instead, they could have a blood sample taken as often as needed. What are the downsides of liquid biopsy? It is possible to find what looks like evidence of circulating tumor cells before there is evidence of a cancer that can be identified by standard screening tests. Is this then a false positive or is it truly a very early find and if followed, a cancer will become detectable? Maybe treatment could be started earlier.

Over the last decade the science in this field has been advancing at a rapid pace with many research labs making progress in a myriad of areas ⁽¹⁾. Without a PhD in cellular genetics such a rapidly changing field is very difficult to follow. Should you unfortunately develop cancer, your oncologist and other consultants will probably lay out for your options of research trials and the interface of information obtained by liquid biopsy.

If this information interests you, I recommend reading Liquid Biopsy: a step closer to transform diagnosis, prognosis ad future of cancer treatments. This article can be found at (https://molecular-cancer.biomedcen-tral.com/articles/10.1186/s12943-022-01543-7)

"LEGACY" Works EXHIBIT October 19 through November 16 Opening Reception

"My Artistic Legacy" is a one-of-a-kind exhibit that showcases the work of 19 artists who have each selected two works that represent how they would like to be remembered.

Each artist considered the idea of "legacy" in his or her own way. Some artists chose existing work, while others created new pieces.

Each piece of work is accompanied by a short statement explaining why it was chosen to represent the artist's legacy.

Plan Ahead! If a fire breaks out in your home, you may have only a few minutes to get out safely once the smoke alarm sounds. Everyone needs to know what to do and where to go if there is a fire.

SAFETY TIPS

- MAKE a home escape plan. Draw a map of your home showing all doors and windows. Discuss the plan with everyone in your home.
- >>> KNOW at least two ways out of every room, if possible. Make sure all doors and windows leading outside open easily.
-))) HAVE an outside meeting place (like a tree, light pole or mailbox) a safe distance from the home where everyone should meet.
- ))) PRACTICE your home fire drill at night and during the day with everyone in your home, twice a year.
- ))) PRACTICE using different ways out.
- >>> TEACH children how to escape on their own in case you can't help them.
-))) CLOSE doors behind you as you leave.

IF THE ALARM SOUNDS...

>>> If the smoke alarm sounds, GET OUT AND STAY OUT. Never go back inside for people or pets.

- FACTS
- A closed door may slow the spread of smoke, heat, and fire. Install smoke alarms inside every sleeping room and outside each separate sleeping area. Install alarms on every level of the home. Smoke alarms should be interconnected. When one smoke alarm sounds, they all sound.
- According to an NFPA survey, only one of every three American households have actually developed and practiced a home fire escape plan.
- While 71% of Americans have an escape plan in case of a fire, only 47% of those have practiced it.
- One-third of American households who made an estimate thought they would have at least 6 minutes before a fire in their home would become life-threatening. The time available is often less. And only

GIRLS SOCCER SHUTS OUT MULTIPLE OPPONENTS

Bow's girls soccer team has been playing lights out for the past couple of weeks. First, the team beat Laconia 5-0 at Laconia, just like the boys soccer team had done the day before at home. The Falcons then defeated the Merrimack Valley Pride 4-2, also an away game. They also beat Plymouth 4-1, and annihilated the Oyster River Bobcats 8-0 at home. The list of players scoring goals in this victory includes seniors Gabriella Tarsa and Lexi Insana, juniors Ella Murphy and Ashley Wallen (the latter scored 2 goals), sophomores Anna Zerba and Cara Van Dyke, and freshman Jaeden Kennedy. They proceeded to outscore Milford 2-1 before falling to Coe-Brown Northwood 1-3. Despite the loss, the Bow girls soccer team aims to bounce back in its upcoming games.

Andre Contreras

GOLF WITH ONLY 1 LOSS IN 19 GAMES

The Falcons' golf team is out to a staggering 18-1 record. They have scored higher than a different team only once, against the Portsmouth Clippers, a team that they also scored lower than on a different occasion. Senior captains Owen Webber and Andre Contreras have played excellently, along with sophomores Jacob Gancarz and Aidan O'Keeffe, senior Mikey Magdziasz, and others.

Gancarz has been a medalist in 6 out of 7 matches. He has a low of 33, scored at Beaver Meadow, Bow's home course. Webber has a low of 36 and has scored in every match so far. O'Keeffe, Contreras, and Magdziasz have all been shooting in the higher 30s and lower 40s.

FOOTBALL GOES ON 3-GAME WIN STREAK

After the disappointing loss to Pelham at the beginning of September, the Bow football team has gone on a 3-game win streak, beating Merrimack Valley away and Kingswood and St. Thomas Aquinas at home.

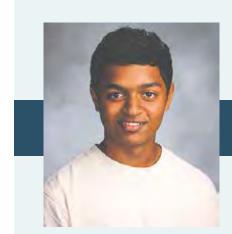

Against the Merrimack Valley Pride, Bow played an excellent first half of football, shutting out Merrimack Valley 23-0. Although Merrimack Valley scored 13 points in the second half, Bow held on to their lead and won the game. Near the end of the first half, senior Kody McCranie took a 4thand-20 punt by Merrimack Valley and turned it into a 68-yard punt return touchdown for Bow.

Senior Kody McCranie in game against Thomas Aquinas.

The Falcons kept it up at their homecoming game against Kingswood, defeating the Knights 19-7. McCranie scored on a 60-yard touchdown reception, along with junior Caleb Schumacher running 80 yards for a touchdown.

Their latest result was a 21-0 trouncing of the St. Thomas Aquinas Saints in Bow's Friday Night Lights game. In the second quarter, Schumacher scored with a 48-yard rushing touchdown, and senior captain quarterback Brady Lover ran 1 yard for a 4th-and-goal touchdown at the very end of the first half. In the second quarter, Lover ran 68 yards for another touchdown and put the game away.

BASS FISHING CLOSES SEASON OUT

The bass fishing team has done well in several tournaments throughout its season. Although the team's season is over due to a 15th place ranking out of 32 schools in the State Qualifier tournament, the team still had a fruitful season.

At Coe-Brown Northwood Academy's homecoming bass fishing tournament, Bow took all three of the top three spots. Senior Angelo Constant and freshman Colby Rae's boat finished first, sophomore Ethan Herrick's boat finished second, and sophomore Bryce Goodreau and freshman Tyler Pierpont's boat placed third.

Additionally, at a Lake Winnipesaukee tournament, Herrick and fellow sophomore Garrett Landers finished 4th, and senior Nate Kiah and freshman Devin Sprague finished 6th out of 27 boats.

"Overall, this was a very successful season with most of the team getting to fish in competitive tournaments," said coach Ben Forbes on the season. "We placed well overall, and the anglers learned a lot."

I'm Matthew Mampuzha, a sophomore at Bow High School. I am currently the webmaster for the Falcon Vision, the school newspaper for BHS. It can be accessed at vision.bownet.org. I'm also one of two high school student representatives to the Bow School Board this year. I've been a big sports fan for a long time, at least since I was 4 years old. Although I've never been extremely talented at sports, my teammates know, I do my best! I play tennis and cross country at BHS.

This summer Ryan McCabe graduated leaving his post as The Bow Times student sports editor. I was offered the position and I've been writing about BHS athletics since!

I'm looking forward to writing some accurate sports articles for the Bow Times that highlight the performances and accomplishments of Bow High School athletes!
